

A Celebration of Spring by the Faculty of Education and Humanities

On Tuesday, April 2, Student Association of Faculty of Education and Humanities (SAFE) organized a field trip to Stojcevac.

To celebrate the spring season, students from the faculty organized a team-building field trip and enjoyed a sunny day and delicious barbecue. As expected, the picnic was more than a good idea before the upcoming exam week. Prof. Senad Becirovic, the Dean of the Faculty of Education and Humanities, says that the first priority for students should be to invest their efforts in their education as well as personal development while still young. With the priorities in place, enjoying such activities comes as a natural reward for the work done. "Satisfied students imply satisfied professors, and judging by my students' faces, you can imagine how happy we, the professors, are," said the dean. The students from the Association are also very grateful to their professors, who supported and contributed to the organization of the trip.
